

Deputies Forum

A 3½ day intensive program for Australian and New Zealand public sector deputies and equivalent.

ANZSOG's inaugural Deputies Forum is the only offering that is tailor-made to the needs and challenges of the deputy in the public sector. The program brings together 25 public sector deputies from across Australia and New Zealand and will draw on the depth of expertise and experience the cohort bring to the program through collaborative circles, experiential learning and placed-based leadership.

Program dates

15–18 July 2018
Gold Coast, Queensland

What to expect

- Exposure to leading thinkers and practitioners in the field of leadership,
- Explore the unique complexities confronting deputies,
- Experiential learning activities specifically shaped to reflect the challenges faced by deputies,
- Explore policy challenges and successes of the Gold Coast region,
- A space to reflect on current roles and the organisation,
- Collaborative circles; and
- Building a professional network of peers from across Australia and New Zealand.

Course Leaders

- Dr Karen Morley, Leadership and Executive Coach
- Professor Brad Jackson, Director of the Policy Innovation Hub and Professor of Social Innovation within the Griffith Business School

Program outline

The forum is a place-based program, drawing this year on the Gold Coast region as well as Logan to ground experiential learning. Participants can expect to explore how place relates to leadership and the role of the deputy. Collaborative circles will be tailored to the individual and their specific needs focusing on building trust, capability and confidence.
